I would say November was about 400-500 K. December was probably in the range of 250K. Those were my ballpark guesses from being there. I would say there will be AT LEAST a million this time.

Woah.

“Legacy media”??? Did you just make up that term? I feel like that’s a powerful phrase right there. Just leaves you with the feeling that the media is no longer valid (it’s not). Normies need to hear that phrase

We will be the single biggest 1 place protest gathering in US history.

<https://archive.curbed.com/2017/1/19/14311548/marches-protests-locations-united-states-history>

If not F'd with, it will be an ACTUAL peaceful protest (not the BLM/Antifa murder/assault/loot version). If F'd with, well at least I assume no one will go looting.

If the KKK could get 1 million , IF MLKJR could get 1 million. Then we seriously are gonna be fucked if we cant get 3 million.

especially since our nation as quadrupled in population since the 50s. There is no excuse, especially for those people in the states close by,

It's approx doubled since the mid-1950's. If we get over a million it will be a very successful turnout. Two million would be well beyond incredible.

Oh okay, gotcha. World population has roughly tripled since the 1950's. Of course world population not really relevant to DC turnout.

Common Core Strikes fucking twice in one thread lmao

the 3% / 3.5% rule is based on total population not voting population and it isn't relevant to US history:

-At no time did more than 45 percent of colonists support the war, and at least a third of colonists fought for the British. Unlike the Civil War, which pitted regions against each other, the war of independence pitted neighbor against neighbor. Americans were not only rebelling against the mother country, they were fighting each other.

- A higher percentage of the population died in the American Revolution than in any other war fought by Americans. As a result, more people who lived through the American Revolution knew someone who died or lost someone in the war, than in any war we have fought since.
- Many Americans switched allegiance and changed signs during the revolution depending on which side was winning. For example, at one inn along a well-traveled road in New Jersey—what is today Route 1—the innkeeper would send a servant out to look down the road every morning and throughout the day. If an army was spotted, the servant was charged with identifying the colors and raising the corresponding flag to keep soldiers from burning down the inn.

Get Canadianed.

correct. This allows him to do ANYTHING as the 3 million standing civilian army will support.

However we only want a fair election for everything in the Republic. If you can't audit or you fight endlessly to signature verify, you are automatically in the wrong and deserve what is coming.

Well over 74 million voted for him. So guessing 75 or even 76 is definitely on the table.

Say that 1/3 decided “Okay, time to be a cuck, lie down, and take the communism in the ass.”

75>50.

Say that 1/3 has delcared going to the protest.

50>16.

Say that only 1/3 ends up actually going.

16>5.

Then say that only 1/3 are coming armed.

That's still over 1,500,000 patriots, and that's just the doomer version.

This isn't even considering that many patriots are definitely going to bring spares, and still others will take weapons from incapacitated Antifa members.

We could be looking at anywhere between 2 million or 3 million patriots, and God willing even more.

And damn, this math is already looking outdated.
